

Introduction

I am working to make my personal website which show case my portfolio resume etc

User Interface Design and Prototype

I know it is totally inappropriate, but this is my first ui design experience so please consider this.

This design will completely describe myself as it contains my intro, portfolio, certificate and resume option

Navigation Structure

On the left hand there is a navigation panel for

- My into
- Portfolio
- Certificates
- Resume

In my portfolio section there will be different fields of portfolio by clicking any one user will be directed to specific portfolio of that field

In Certificates section there will be a display of all my certificates

In Resume section there will be my updated resume
